

Services:

Web Development & Testing

Web development involves a number of different disciplines, from design, user interface, site architecture, programming, marketing, content development, and so much more.

In order to implement your strategy effectively, you need to know how to go about developing for the web. Having a partner that has built many different types of web sites can help ensure your success.

- New Web Site Design
- Database Enabled Web Sites
- Prototyping
- Content Creation
- Customer Support Extranets
- New Web Site Design
- Human Resource Intranets

Each of our projects goes through a rigorous testing program prior to launch. Our testing includes:

- Browser Testing for Recent Popular Browsers (Internet Explorer, Netscape)
- Computer Operating System Platforms (Macintosh, Windows 98, Windows ME, Windows NT, Windows 2000)
- Firewall Testing
- Page Load Testing

BuzzBoltMEDIA has created many types of web sites, designed to meet the unique needs of each individual client. We follow through on your objectives, and do our best to meet your schedule and budget. Call to find out how we can meet your goals today.